I recently contracted with T.S. Roberts Construction to perform work within our outpatient surgical facility. In order meet medical accreditation standards, specifications for cleanliness and safety are quite rigorous. With this in mind, we entrusted our equipment and construction needs to T.S. Roberts.

They performed the work early in the morning and on weekends to avoid disrupting our business hours. Several components of the equipment were unique and required custom work to function together. In total, this work was done quickly and efficiently. We couldn't be happier with the outcome. When the need arises again, we will be happy to invite TS Roberts Construction to work in our facility. They are true professionals who gave us an accurate estimate and modified plans along the way to complete the project within our budget. Most importantly, they installed our equipment professionally, and it will serve our purposes for years to come.

Sincerely,
